CHRYSANTHEMUM SUGGESTIONS

Disbud Exhibition and Spidery Types

SOIL PREPARATION. Chrysanthemums do best in a rich deeply cultivated soil. Incorporation of humus matters such as barnyard manure, decayed compost, peat moss, etc., is beneficial. In addition, superphosphate at the rate of 5 lbs. per 100 square feet is broadcasted and spaded to a depth of 12 to 15 inches early in the spring.

STOPPING. The center of the main growth is nipped off when about 6 inches tall and second stopping is generally required around end of June if planted early. Four to six lateral growths are allowed to rise from the last pinching.

DISBUDDING. All sub-lateral branches are removed at regular intervals of about 10 days apart. Many exhibition varieties will produce "First Crown Buds" or "Leaf Buds," as commonly known, in July which are usually removed and next buds retained.

BUD SELECTION: Central bud produces the best flower. Therefore, all axillary growth plus the encircling buds are removed and the central bud retained.

FERTILIZING. About 3 applications of commercial fertilizer, such as "Vigoro," at the rate of 3 to 5 lbs. per 100 square feet would be sufficient. No feeding is done after the buds begin to show color.

CARNATION CULTURE

Carnations bloom throughout the year—more profusely during the warmer months than during the winter. The plant will survive outdoor temperature as low as 18 to 20 degrees though the buds may be frozen. They like full sunlight and will tolerate a wide range of soil condition and acidity but they must have good drainage. Liberal amount of rotted manure is spaded into the soil together with a small amount of bone meal in setting out the plants.

The young plants should be spaced about 12 inches apart and should be watered thoroughly after planting. Very wet or very dry soil conditions are both detrimental although in winter they will stand being kept fairly dry.

Plants are first topped when they are three or four inches high in order to encourage young plants to become bushy around the base. Centers of new growths are further topped occasionally until a bushy plant is formed. Almost simultaneously with the last topping, the plants should be provided with some sort of support. When buds become sufficiently large, all side buds are removed thus leaving a single bud to a stem.

After the final topping, feeding is a year round procedure since Carnations are everblooming. A small amount of complete fertilizer is recommended for each plant about once a month.
